Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Whisk the softened cream cheese, egg, vanilla and powdered allulose in a bowl until smooth — a milk frother gets rid of any lumps. 1:13
2. Spray a 240 ml microwave-safe ramekin with avocado oil, pour in the batter and microwave for 90 seconds. 2:51
3. Let it cool, then chill for at least 20–30 minutes; the longer it sets (up to overnight), the denser and more cheesecake-like it becomes. 3:28
4. Eat it from the ramekin, or turn it out onto a plate as the cook does, and top with a little whipped cream, a strawberry and a few blueberries. 4:27

> Tip Make sure the cream cheese is fully softened so it sets well. The cook suggests mixing in peanut butter or chocolate chips (use sugar-free chips to keep it keto).
