Cream reduced with allulose replaces sugary condensed milk, and the chocolate is sugar-free: under 3 g net carbs and almost no sugar in each piece.

Diet notes: Keto (2.7 g net carbs a serve).

Method

TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. For the sugar-free condensed milk, put the cream, 3 tbsp butter and powdered allulose in a medium saucepan and bring to a boil over medium heat. 1:04
2. Turn the heat to low and simmer for about 30 minutes, until it has reduced to roughly 14 oz and coats the back of a spoon. 1:26
3. Use it straight away, or pour it into a jar, cool 30 minutes at room temperature and refrigerate (it keeps 2–3 weeks). 2:16
4. Line an 8 inch square dish with baking paper and wipe the paper with a little oil. 4:45
5. Put the condensed milk in a saucepan with the chocolate chips, 1 tbsp butter and salt. Stir constantly over low heat, lifting the pan off the heat now and then so the chocolate doesn't seize, until smooth. 5:24
6. Take it off the heat, stir in the vanilla, then pour straight into the dish and smooth the top. 6:28
7. Chill for at least 4 hours (overnight is best) until firm, then cut into 32 squares with a sharp knife. 6:44

> Tip For nutty fudge, stir in 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans with the vanilla. Keep the fudge in the fridge.
