Keto Mexican Flan with Sugar-Free Caramel

65 min · plus 2–3 hours chilling · Makes 8 × 1 slice (1/8 flan) · 250 kcal a portion

Video 8:35 · Low Carb Love

Vegetarian · Gluten-free ingredients · Nut-free

Made with eggs and cream and sweetened only with allulose, so one slice has about 2 g net carbs and no added sugar — a keto custard that won't spike blood sugar.

Diet notes: Keto (2.1 g net carbs a serve).

Method

TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Heat the oven to 350°F. In a bowl, beat the heavy cream, vanilla, eggs and powdered allulose with a hand mixer just until smooth and combined — don't overmix. 1:08
2. For the caramel, warm ½ cup allulose with 2 tbsp water in a small saucepan over low heat; once it simmers, turn the heat to medium-high and stir until it turns a deep amber. 2:16
3. Take it off the heat and let it cool a little until thick, then pour it into a well-buttered 9.5 inch baking dish and spread it over the bottom with a spatula. 2:59
4. Pour the custard over the caramel. Set the dish in a larger roasting pan and carefully pour boiling water into the pan until it comes about halfway up the sides of the dish (about 1½ inches). 3:48
5. Bake for 45–50 minutes, until a knife inserted in the centre comes out clean. Lift it out without splashing water into the custard, then chill the flan in the fridge for 2–3 hours. 5:22
6. Run a knife dipped in warm water around the edge, put a plate on top and flip the flan out so the caramel runs over the top. Cut into 8 slices. 5:47

> Tip Serves 8 (our estimate — the cook doesn't give a yield). Add a few drops of stevia to the custard if you like it sweeter, as the cook suggests.
