Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Mix the beef, onion, garlic, almond flour, egg, 1 tsp salt, 1/2 tsp pepper and the allspice until evenly combined. 0:05
2. Roll into balls of about 2 tablespoons each (about 24). 1:13
3. Heat the olive oil in a cast-iron skillet over high heat and brown the meatballs in small batches, turning until cooked through. Set aside, leaving the browned bits in the pan. 1:45
4. Melt the butter in the pan, then whisk in the stock, cream, mustard powder, nutmeg and the remaining salt and pepper. 2:48
5. Bring to a simmer, whisk in the xanthan gum and simmer 8–12 minutes until thickened. 4:45
6. Return the meatballs to the sauce for about 3 minutes to heat through, then scatter with parsley. 6:12

> Tip The cook suggests cauliflower mash alongside. Leftovers keep 3 days in the fridge or 3 months in the freezer (with or without the sauce); reheat gently so the sauce doesn't split.

The method is a summary in our words — the video shows every step.
