47 g protein and about 18 g net carbs a serve, very rich in vitamin B12, selenium and vitamin C: a seafood paella of shrimp, squid and mussels made with cauliflower rice instead of rice, and no added liquid. Paleo as written; the seafood portion and salt put it over DASH limits.

Diet notes: Low saturated fat (4.5 g, 7% of the energy).

Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Quarter the cauliflower, rinse it, cut away the core and pulse it in a food processor 20–25 seconds into rice-sized pieces; any longer and it loses its texture. 0:56
2. Mince the garlic and dice the bell pepper. Open the squid tube, pat it dry and cut it into small squares. Pat the shrimp dry and season them with salt and pepper. 1:38
3. Heat the olive oil in a paella pan over medium-high heat. After a minute, sear the shrimp seasoned side down about 1 minute a side, then set them aside. 2:12
4. Add the bell pepper and stir about 3 minutes, scraping up the shrimp bits. Push it aside and cook the squid about a minute, then the garlic for 30 seconds. 2:43
5. Stir in the paprika, salt and pepper, then the tomato purée, and cook about 3 minutes. 3:04
6. Add the cauliflower rice and saffron and mix well; add no liquid, or it turns mushy. Lower the heat to low, return the shrimp and add the mussels. 3:28
7. Cover with foil and cook about 8 minutes, then rest off the heat 4–5 minutes. Discard any mussels that haven't opened and finish with lemon slices and parsley. 3:56

> Tip Ready-made cauliflower rice from the shop makes this even quicker.
