Method TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Rub the oxtail pieces with lime juice and salt and leave for 20 minutes. 0:15
2. Drop the oxtail into a pot of boiling water and boil for 20 minutes to draw out the fat. Drain and throw away the greasy water. 0:32
3. Put the oxtail back into a clean pressure cooker and fry it in its own fat, without oil, until browned and a crust forms on the bottom. 1:00
4. Add the diced onion, garlic and carrots and fry them with the meat until well coloured. 1:24
5. Pour in water to cover, add the tomato paste, tempero baiano (or pepper), bay leaves and a little salt. Bring to pressure, lower the heat once it hisses and cook for 40 minutes. 1:44
6. Release the pressure, adjust the salt and pepper and simmer uncovered until the sauce is thick and glossy. 2:09
7. Turn off the heat, add the watercress (thick stems removed), stir in gently, cover and leave for 5 minutes before serving. 2:27

> Tip Serves 4 (as the cook says). Rabada is traditionally served with soft polenta or rice; extra watercress or a green salad keeps the meal lower in carbs. Make it a day ahead and lift off the set fat before reheating.
