Allulose gives the body and sweetness of syrup without raising blood sugar: 2 tbsp have about 2 kcal and almost no net carbs (0.2 g), against roughly 27 g of carbs in the same amount of real maple syrup.

Diet notes: Low carb (0.2 g net carbs) but not keto: 1% of the energy is from fat, and keto meals get about 60% or more.

Method

TIMES = THE MOMENT IN THE VIDEO

1. Pour the boiling water into a saucepan on the stove and add the allulose. 1:03
2. Stir until the allulose has completely dissolved and the liquid is clear again. 1:34
3. Add the lemon juice and cream of tartar, mix, then stir in the maple extract. 1:46
4. Simmer gently for 15 minutes; a shorter simmer keeps it pourable like maple syrup rather than thick like honey. 2:11
5. Pour into a heatproof jar and let it cool, then funnel it into a syrup bottle. 2:43

> Tip For an 230 g bottle, halve it: 350 ml allulose and 240 ml water. Pour over keto pancakes, waffles or Greek yoghurt. Makes about 450 g.

The method is a summary in our words — the video shows every step.
